Why I Started Learning Web Development

By Abhinav | March 1, 2026

Like many beginners, I was always fascinated by how websites work. In 2026, I finally decided to dive into the world of web development and start building things on my own.

I began with HTML, the basic structure of the web. It was exciting to see how simple tags could create headings, paragraphs, images, and links.

This is just the beginning of my journey, and I'm looking forward to sharing what I learn along the way!
